

How to help

How everyone can help

Best way to get started helping is to use sipXecs and provide feedback about your experience in mailing lists or IRC. If you become successful with sipXecs, help others become successful by contributing to the wiki, answering questions on the mailing list, reporting bugs or requesting features in the tracker. Contributing the sipXecs community is a smart business decision to ensure your investment in sipXecs will continue to grow.

How developers can help

If you are a developer or can engage others in development, find out how to contribute code. If you develop proprietary add-ons, send your patches to the core system and help expand the APIs.

Signing up

To create an account in the bug tracker and wiki, click here